Is Municipal Stadium About to Be Sold?

Today a constantly increasing number of people known everywhere as 'normal folks' are making it clear to politicians and city administrators that if the municipal stadium is ever to survive and fulfill its function, the present 'in-joke' situation must be terminated. The stadium has a large and enthusiastic audience, but it is sometimes hard for the management to make ends meet.

Public Opinion for the Long Island Rail Road

The creation of a citizens' advisory committee to act as a continuing instrument for public comments on the Long Island Rail Road was urged at a meeting of the Long Island Rail Road Commission last week.

The plan of the Transit Authority is to put the Long Island Rail Road under public ownership. It is felt that this would work out of its present predicament and status under private ownership.

This proposal, if put in effect, would make the Long Island a fare-free road. The cost of general interest would become a tax burden on county villages, school districts and other subdivisions of the state government. It is felt that the local governments in this state would get part of what is now paid by the fare.

Making the Long Island Rail Road fare-free would not affect the Long Island Electric Company, a separate corporation.
